ATTACHMENT 1 – PROJECT BACKGROUND

Project Description

The Project includes the design, construction and operation of a Liquefied Natural Gas (LNG) plant, utilities, storage facilities, including port construction with marine off-loading facilities, and shipping.

The LNG plant will initially consist of two identical liquefaction trains, each with the capacity to produce approximately six (6) million tonnes of LNG annually based on the average gas composition, with an option to expand the project in the future with two (2) additional trains, resulting in a capacity of up to twenty-six (26) mtpa LNG.

The LNG plant will be located in Kitimat, a coastal community in northern British Columbia approximately 650 kilometres northwest of Vancouver. Kitimat is located at the head of the Douglas Channel, which provides a deep-water, wide, sheltered and ice-free shipping route throughout the year.

The LNG Canada project is well advanced, having received key regulatory approvals and completed key site preparation activities, to ensure the project is in the best place possible for a Final Investment Decision (FID). Originally scheduled for late 2016, the global energy market and the affordability of the project in that context prevented our joint venture participants from taking an FID at that time. However, they are committed to making an FID when these conditions improve and the Project has demonstrated that it remains cost competitive against other investment opportunities.

Construction of the first phase of the project will take approximately five years to complete the first two of four LNG processing units, or “trains”. The remaining two trains would be constructed during Phase 2 of construction.
